This event is not a race or trial of speed. You must follow the rules of the road and show consideration for other road users. The route is on open public roads, is not way-marked or marshalled, the organiser provides no rescue service. Familiarise yourself with the route and note that some routes may be arduous. We suggest carrying lights at all time but they will be required if there is a possibility of still riding in the evening or if the weather is inclement.

I have read and understand the above and have given details of my CyclingUK membership, otherwise I apply will pay the higher entry fee (£8). I enclose one C5 stamped addressed envelope and my entry fee. If I have provided a CyclingUK membership number, I have paid a £6 entry fee. Entries on the day, if brevet cards remain, will be charged at a higher rate. Junior riders (under age of 18 on date of event) may also deduct £1 from the entry fee.
